I m wondering which is the right usage between the1st and 1st in these sentences
a The United States ranked1stin Bloomberg s Global Innovation Index

b The United States ranked the1st When is it proper to use1stinstead of first?
For example is the correct sentence acceptable? Can you give more detail about why you1stgot involved? I tried finding some authoritative source Aug 23 2014
Our numbers have a specific two letter combination that tells us how the number sounds

For example 9th 3rd 301st What do we call these special sounds? May 19 2016 I like to say 1 as negative one

So should I say negative oneth index or negative first index ? Which one is grammatical? Is there a way to avoid this problem altogether When were numeric contractions for ordinals first used as in1st 2nd 3rd 6th instead of first second third sixth? Apr 10 2015 Ground floor First floor In British English the floor of a building which is level with the ground is called the ground floor

The floor above it is called the first floor the floor above Using the cipher 0 as an interval indicator is rare and confusing. Hour 1 = t=0 1 hour 2 the second hour = t = 1 2 etc ignoring the interval boundarynaming problem but hour 0 is poorly defined

You re probably better thinking laterally and using the column heading pref or ung say Suppose that on the first floor of a building there are three separate apartments numbered 1 2 and 3 respectively

How can I refer to one of them when writing a postal address? I am wondering if Jul 17 2014 0 Technically the f in this context would not be capitalized

The same situation occurs when the floors of a building or vessel have non numerical designations like the noble floor that sometimes refers to the main formal spaces being at second or third floor level 1stor 2nd floor level in the European system neither word gets capitalized Oct 27 2014 I ve read once about x stories Want to know if there is any difference between stories and floors

Or they are just alias for each other used in different variations of English language?.
