Sep 23 2025 Dr. Lane also holds a clinical professor position at UCSF and is a Fellow of the American Medical Informatics Association AMIA. Dr

Lane recalls his early days in practice when physicians experimented with typing emergency department notes into networked Macintosh computers offering an early glimpse of how digitized records could transform Sep 21 2021 The American Health Information Management Association the American Medical Informatics Association and the Electronic Health Record Association announced the release of a preliminary report that examines key issues related to the operationalization of the definitions of electronic health information and designated record set Oct 23 2021 A section of the AMIA Web site provides detailed on the certification eligibility for it applying for and taking the exam and recertification

While AHIC is open to all who have a masters or doctoral degree in health informatics or a related discipline the certification process is not conferred upon initial completion of ones education Feb 1 2013 AMIA Position Paper Makes 10 Recommendations for Improving EHR Usability The American Medical Informatics Association AMIA is a non profit membership and scientific association providing leadership in the transformation of healthcare through informatics Dec 3 2015 The AMIA Annual Symposium is an excellent meeting that brings together presentation of new research up to date summaries of progress in the field and great social events Jun 30 2025 AMIA June 16 2025 AMIA urges CMS and ASTP ONC to advance patient centered innovation by ensuring comprehensive computable access to health data through standardized API and integration of patient voices in standards development

Recommendations emphasize digital identity usability for older adults and reducing documentation burden Apr 30 2022 The course will continue to be offered beyond this milestone and in fact a new offering is beginning this month

In person sessions for those completing the course will take place at upcoming AMIA meetings this year including the Clinical Informatics Conference Houston TX May 23 26 and the Annual Symposium Washington DC November Nov 20 2020 I like to believe that I have made many contributions to the field of biomedical and health informatics over the years but I suspect the one that will most define my legacy in the field is the conceptualization and implementation of the first and still flagship course of the American Medical Informatics Association AMIA 1010 program Nov 15 2012 Progress on the clinical informatics subspecialty for physicians continues to be steady but slow

Some additional information recently became available at a late breaking panel at the American Medical Informatics Association AMIA 2012 Annual Symposium this past week although there are still many unanswered questions especially the acute question of exactly who will be eligible to take the Sep 24 2013 AMIA 2013
