The bourgeoisie is the ruling class in Marx's theory of class struggle under capitalism. The bourgeoisie is the property owning class who own the means of production e.g. factories and employ and exploit the proletariat.

Marxists argue that the bourgeoisie maintains its power through ideology as well as oppression but that the proletariat should ultimately have a revolution and overthrow Aug 15 2024. The bourgeoisie ruling class own the means of production and employ the proletariat the working class.

Marx argues that the bourgeoisie exploits the proletariat. Marxism describes a broad set of theories articulated by and then inspired by the writings of German philosopher economist and sociologist Karl Marx 1818 1883.

Marx developed a critique of capitalism both as an economic system but also in terms of the social conditions associated with it.

He argued that at the heart of capitalism was a class struggle between the bourgeoisie and the The proletariat are the working class in Karl Marx's theory of class struggle under capitalism.

The proletariat are employed by and exploited by the bourgeoisie ruling class and often suffer from false class consciousness and therefore often accept their own exploitation as inevitable.

However Marx argued that the proletariat would eventually have a revolution and overturn the capitalist Jun 22 2020. Social class refers to a group of people in society who have the same socioeconomic status.

In the Communist Manifesto 1848 Karl Marx and Friedrich Engels boldly proclaim that the history of all hitherto societies is the history of class conflict.

They believe that the social classes can be distinguished between those who own the means of production the bourgeoisie and those who Marxist sociologist Louis Althusser suggests that the bourgeoisie maintain power by using both repressive state apparatus coercive power like the police and the army and ideological state apparatus institutions that spread bourgeois ideology and ensure that the proletariat is in a state of false class consciousness.

Schools and educational institutions are for Althusser part of the May 28 2025 Karl Marx 1818 83 and Friedrich Engels 1820 95 are undoubtedly the most important intellectual figures in the development of socialist thought.
