In short Cave 98 represents the epitome of what we refer to here as Khotanese themes in the caves of Dunhuang. This is the second part of a three book paperback edition which reproduces the complete authoritative text of The Lord of the Rings together with the original maps drawn by Christopher Tolkien.

The Appendices and a fully revised and expanded Index are included in The Return of the King.

The studies by Tang Yongtong and Richard Robinson exemplify this trend. Tang sums up Kumarajiva's thought in four points. Three dimensional images of crustal seismic structure beneath the East Pacific Rise show pronounced axial heterogeneity over distances of a few kilometres.

A linear high velocity anomaly. This article adopting a constructivist approach explores the role of historical narrative as an instrument for shaping foreign policy orientations and national identity.

The theoretical foundation of the analysis lies in the understanding of narrative as a medium of collective memory enabling political actors to connect the past with the present and transform it into a resource of.
