Oct 19 2022 A unitarygovernment is a system that has a strong central government that controls what subnational governments do

A single central entity holds all power and authority Dec 10 2025 Unitarynation states A great majority of all the worlds nation states are unitarysystems including Bulgaria France Great Britain the Netherlands Japan Poland Romania the Scandinavian countries Spain and many of the Latin American and African countries There are three types of governmentsystems in European politics in a presidential system the president is the head of state and the head of government in a semi presidential system the president and the prime minister share a number of competences finally in a parliamentary republic the president is a ceremonial figurehead who has few political competences

As with the definition of In contrast to federalism a unitarysystem makes subnational governments dependent on the national government where significant authority is concentrated

Before the late 1990s the United Kingdoms unitarysystem was centralized to the extent that the national government held the most important levers of power In many countries around the world federalism has evolved over time to become an important political system

The concept of federalism originated from the United States Constitution which established a federal system of government where power is divided between the central government and state governments Nov 26 2023 Federalism is a system of government where power is shared between a central authority and smaller regional governments. Many countries adopt federalism to manage ethnic diversity within their Nov 14 2025 Constitutional law Federal Unitary Classification Classifying a particular state as federal or unitary is usually straightforward though in some cases it can be more difficult

The United States and Switzerland are clearly federal states all of the above mentioned characteristics of the federal state are present in their constitutional systems. Australia and Germany too can be.
