With 34.6 million passengers cruising to all 7 continents the global cruise industry is supported by diverse source markets growing regional demand and expanding infrastructure contributing to its resilience and long term growth potential. Cruising offers diverse accessible and transformational travel experiences for all generations combining life onboard with immersive shoreside adventures that support and engage local communities. Membership As the leading authority of the cruise industry Cruise Lines International Association (CLIA) provides a unified voice for the global cruise community which includes the world's most prestigious ocean, river and specialty cruise lines, an expansive group of maritime leaders who provide technical expertise, products and services to the cruise sector leading ports/destinations. A total of 2.6 million Asians took cruises to destinations worldwide last year.

While still well below the peak of 2018 (4.2 million passengers) and the strong result in 2019 (3.7 million), it is clear that Asia is again embracing cruising. About CLIA and Cruising Policies and Key Topics Cruise Markets News and Resources As the unified voice of the global cruise community, CLIA equips thousands of travel agencies and advisors with training, research and marketing support to demonstrate the value of cruising and grow the market worldwide. The cruise industry in Australasia, primarily encompassing Australia, New Zealand and the South Pacific Islands, has become a vibrant and rapidly growing market, attracting both regional and international travelers with diverse experiences ranging from luxury to expedition cruising.
