Sally Field stars as the charming funny and wave surfing Gidget, a 15 year old living with her widowed father in sunny 1960s California. After spending the last two years in Europe as an exchange student, Gidget returns home to California only to discover that things have changed.

The letters she had been writing to her beloved Moondoggie to try to make him jealous have had the wrong effect. The original Gidget is responsible for bringing surfing into popular culture and inspiring generations of female surfers.

It sparked new businesses and brands and boosted sales of hundreds of companies that used the universe of Gidget to promote themselves on television, radio and print media. Frederick Kohner, born Friedrich Kohner, was an Austrian born novelist and screen writer both in Germany and the US.

He is best known for having created the Gidget novels which inspired a series of movies, two television series, three telemovies and a feature length animated film. Gidget is a 1959 American CinemaScope comedy film directed by Paul Wendkos and starring [3][4] Sandra Dee, Cliff Robertson, James Darren, Arthur O'Connell and the Four Preps.

The film is about a teenager's initiation into the California surf culture and her romance with a young surfer.
