It follows the form of a revenge tragedy in which the hero Hamlet seeks vengeance against his father's murderer his uncle Claudius now the king of Denmark. How we respond to the ending of Hamlet both as revenge drama and as psychological study depends in part on how we respond to yet a third level of the play that is to Hamlet as a prolonged meditation on death. It is designed both for those who prefer the traditional text of Hamlet which is the combination of Second Quarto and First Folio and for those who prefer to regard the Second Quarto and First Folio as distinct versions of the play.
