Jun 4 2025 For the second year in a row the number of students leaving college without earning a credential has declined according to a new report from the National Student Clearinghouse Research Center Jun 23 2025 Even with expanded STEM education efforts new domestic initiatives won't yield ready to work graduates for 1620 years

The US is in the midst of an enrollment cliff with a sharp projected decline in college aged populations due to falling birth rates Oct 28 2024 Students might be taking fewer credits and potentially working more because of uncertainty around their receipt of financial aid though more data are needed to explore that hypothesis This journal maps how U.S. students move across states why more Americans are looking abroad and what that means for colleges trying to rebuild stable pipelines in a post-enrollment cliff world National Student Clearinghouse data confirms a slight 1.7% decrease in undergraduate enrollment from Spring 2023 relative to Spring 2021

For these reasons it is predicted that U.S.

colleges have hit the limit of how many high school graduates they can enroll on their campuses Dec 10 2024 The enrollment cliff refers to an expected drop in the population of high school graduates which translates to a smaller pool of domestic students able to enter postsecondary programmes Nov 20 2023 Among traditional aged undergraduate students enrollment increased across all neighborhood income levels with students from the lowest income areas gaining 3.6 percent and those from the highest income areas gaining 1.4 percent this year
