Here is a sentence During this festive season our app development cost starts from just $10000. Here Grammarly shows at instead of from. Is it correct? I am perplexed because I have an impression that when we talk about the price range it is correct to use from

What's your take on this? Apr 6 2018 The concert will start tomorrow at 6:00 pm. Or The concert starts tomorrow at 6:00 pm Sep 26 2022 Does the day count as part of the 30? Is the plan working on that day? If so on would be better

Saying from is slightly ambiguous as it could be argued that it starts the next day. There is a similar situation with available until Wednesday and available through Wednesday. Compare with The sidewalk will be replaced from my house to the corner

Does that include in front of my You are correct in understanding that has started and is started mean the same thing here. The main point is that while the bargaining is in progress the other intermediaries must wait

Has started makes that just a tiny bit clearer for reasons that the answers below try to explain

It's because the present perfect means even though the action happened in the past the result is still in Jan 8 2021 The guide announced that the tour of the museum will be starting in 10 minutes and is scheduled to run for about two hours if I replace will be starting with will start is there any meaning Jul 11 2021 To a large extent the start of evening is a matter of opinion or convention. The Oxford Dictionaries say that it usually starts at about 6 PM. Note the lack of a definite rule

Evening NOUN 1 The period of time at the end of the day usually from about 6 p.m. to bedtime. It was seven o'clock in the evening Evening Lexico Cambridge does not provide a time the part of the day between Oct 11 2017 Wedding starts at two o'clock reception begins at three thirty. Train leaves at noon

Bus leaves at one

I would understand those sentences especially in a context like a brief email but I think that determiners might make the sentences sound a bit more smooth The wedding starts at two o'clock our reception begins at three thirty Oct 26 2022 The show starts at 7 and we arrived at 4 so the show has not started yet

How can we express this logic? Example 1 We arrived at the venue before the show starts started. Do we use starts or start Do you know what time class starts? Do you know at what time class starts? The definite article can be omitted I don't know why but it looks and reads more natural
