Apr 26 2016 When more is used before adjective or adverb as inconvenient in your example it is an adverb whose primary function is to modify the following word

However when it is used before a noun or sometimes after a noun it is used as a determiner or adjective. For example I need more money. More context is required. I need something more to eat

In the above examples it means greater in Feb 6 2015 Sure enough this ngram shows that stupider got started long after more stupid

Apparently the need to compare levels of stupidity was so great that people granted stupid a sort of honorary Anglo Saxon status in order to use the more convenient comparative er

And once stupider is in by analogy vapid er eventually starts sounding more acceptable Aug 15 2019 The more the more You can see all of this in a dictionary example the more one thing happens the more another thing happens An increase in one thing an action occurrence etc causes or correlates to an increase in another thing. [1] The more work you do now the more free time you'll [you will] have this weekend What smore is an expression that's used when you want to emphasize that the next action or fact is more or as important as the one mentioned

War doesn't bring peace what smore it brings more chaos. Or your example Jan 9 2015 The modifies the adverb more and they together form an adverbial modifier that modifies the verb doubt

According to Wiktionary the etymology is as follows From Middle English from Old English by that after that whereby originally the instrumental case of the demonstratives s masculine and t neuter Please would you give me some further coffee? vs

Please would you give me some more coffee? Could you think of when and or where we could use further meaning more? Thanks in advance Oct 9 2024 to the point is an idiomatic expression it means apt pertinent relevant

In idioms the words of the expression do not always make literal sense but are rather figurative

One of the many meanings of the word point is topic argument idea so you can see how to the point kind of makes sense Dec 22 2021 What's the difference between these types of adjective usages? For example This is more of a prerequisite than a necessary quality
