Nuns are most common in Mahayana Buddhism but have more recently become more prevalent in other traditions

In the Catholic tradition there are many religious institutes of nuns and sisters the female equivalent of male monks or friars each with its own charism or special character. Nuns also known as religious sisters represent one of the most fascinating and essential pillars of the Catholic Church.

Throughout the centuries they have been living witnesses of the Gospel dedicating their lives to obedience, chastity and poverty. Nuns are women who have professed the solemn vows of chastity, poverty and obedience and who have devoted their lives to the service of God and others.

In this article I will explore the history and origin of nuns, their different orders, the vows they take and their leadership roles. Dec 17 2025 Explore the centuries long evolution of nuns from early Christian ascetics to their transformative spiritual and social roles in religious communities. Nuns are generally obliged to recite the Divine Office like religious orders of men but the Visitandines and some monasteries of Ursulines recite only the Little Office of the Blessed Virgin even in choir. Although the word "nun" carries a specific historically circumscribed meaning especially in Catholic Christianity, it is also widely used to refer more generally to women ascetics and monastics in different religious traditions. Roman Catholicism celebrates seven sacraments: baptism, the Eucharist, confirmation, reconciliation, confession, marriage, anointing of the sick and holy orders.

Some such as baptism, confirmation, marriage and ordination are generally to be received only once in a Roman Catholic's life. The meaning of "nun" is a woman belonging to a religious order, especially one under solemn vows of poverty, chastity and obedience. While not explicitly named as an institution in Scripture, the function of nuns aligns with biblical calls to self-sacrifice, continual worship and the building up of the church.

Their daily witness serves as a testimony to a life wholly given in devotion to God and service to others. From our Dominican family to yours, we wish you a blessed Christmas and a grace-filled New Year.

The Dominican Sisters of Mission San Jose send their love this Christmas Day, praying that the light of Christ fills your heart with peace, hope and joy. A welcoming, faith-centered community.
