Established in 1996 South Asian Youth Action SAYA is a youth development organization providing holistic impactful free year round programming to underserved New York City youth. Within our after school and summer programming SAYA provides our diverse students with allies within the school system who understand their unique experiences and challenges and support their social emotional and scholastic growth. At SAYA we are dedicated to delivering impactful programs to a growing number of youth each year fueled by the commitment of our volunteers supporters partners and leadership. SAYA serves a diverse group of youth hailing from various ethnic and religious backgrounds many of whom identify as South Asian descending from countries such as Afghanistan, Bangladesh, Bhutan, Guyana, India, Nepal, Pakistan, Sri Lanka, Tibet and Trinidad and Tobago. As part of the SAYA community you will belong to a diverse and passionate family growing your professional skills and thrive alongside SAYA's amazing youth.

Join us in helping build bright futures! Prior to joining SAYA she worked at the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention where she worked collaboratively with non profits on program evaluation for chronic diseases.

She is passionate about utilizing data to enact change and supporting efforts to better social and health equity. Over the course of our history SAYA has broken down the model minority myth and paved the way for greater attention and investments in social services for the South Asian population. Young people also learn valuable skills such as personal finance and negotiation to help them continue to grow their independence throughout their time at SAYA in college and beyond. SAYA advisors provide academic and personal guidance throughout their years in college.

Professional development opportunities are also introduced through a variety of activities such as resume building workshops, networking mixers and career panels. Volunteers will work closely with SAYA youth through college and career interests and the college application process.

This can include brainstorming, writing and editing personal statements, supplementary essays, scholarship applications and career advisement.
