Most of Antarctica is covered by the Antarctic ice sheet with an average thickness of 1.9 km (1.2 mi). Antarctica is on average the coldest, driest, and windiest of the continents and has the highest average elevation.

It is mainly a polar desert with annual precipitation of over 200 mm (8 in) along the coast and far less inland. 5 days ago, Antarctica, the world's southernmost continent, is almost wholly covered by an ice sheet and is about 5.5 million square miles (14.2 million square km) in size. Without any ice, Antarctica would emerge as a giant peninsula and archipelago of mountainous islands known as Lesser Antarctica and a single large landmass about the size of Australia known as Greater Antarctica. Aug 9 2023 NASA uses satellites to study the ice on Antarctica and how the continent is changing.

Scientists want to know how changes in Earth's climate are affecting Antarctica's ice sheets. Dec 24 2025 The New York Times is joining an expedition by sea to Antarctica's fastest thinning glaciers. Discover incredible facts about Antarctica, learn about past expeditions to the continent, and find out why it is the most inhospitable place on Earth. Antarctica is Earth's southernmost continent, covering an area of 13.72 million square kilometers, making it the fifth largest continent by land area.

Despite its massive size, Antarctica has no permanent population due to its harsh climate, icy terrain, and remote location. Dec 12 2025 Explore All Countries Antarctica Antarctica Page last updated December 12 2025. Antarctica is Earth's southernmost and least populated continent.

Situated almost entirely south of the Antarctic Circle and surrounded by the Southern Ocean, Antarctica is a continent capped by an inland ice sheet up to 4.8 km thick, containing approximately 90% of the world's total surface fresh water and 60% of the world's total fresh water.
