etymonline has for suck O.E. sucan from PIE root sug suk of imitative origin. Meaning do fellatio is first recorded 1928. Slang sense of be contemptible first attested 1971 the underlying notion is of fellatio and sucker young mammal before it is weaned late 14c. agent noun from suck. Slang meaning person who is easily deceived is first attested 1836 in 6 Whilesucks is a verb form most of the terms that convey similar meaning are adjectives

The primary connotation of sucks is that the referent whether a person object action or state of being is very bad or awful as in That sucks

There are numerous synonyms for awful such as abominable atrocious dreadful terrible unspeakable painful Feb 27 2016 The phrase it sucks falls into the broad category of maledictory expressions terms of abuse or imprecation. It may also be appropriately categorized as profanity

As originally used it applies the verb suck in its specific meaning of perform fellatio

In its original manifestation the expression s sexual connotation and strong denigration made it inappropriate in all but the most grossly Jun 11 2021 The two words He sucks could have the same meaning as He sucks in something as in at doing something but definitely do not have the same meaning as He sucks something in

There s an ambiguity between your question title and the text Jun 9 2015 Possibly the Australian etymology is not mistaken but correct as you mentioned you had never heard it as ____ sucks dick

I first encountered the term sucks in high school as part of the full phrase and it s sexual misogynistic and homophobic intent was explicit. +1 for your contribution It will be more of a sucks for him situation if I win and less of a let down for us all situation if I fail

So it is using the more familiar that situation sucks for someone and inserting it whole into the sentence to contrast the two possible outcomes The origin of blow = suck be bad unpleasant recently came up in comments to this ELL question

I d always assumed it was a standard slang meaning reversal from suck

But a few minutes on Google Jul 1 2015 Where does the term That sucks! and putting man on the end of sentences come from? aw that sucks man! Thanks! Jan 8 2015 My mom and I say soup like Why are you souping the snot back up your nose? But I realise that this is not accurate
