Dec 16 2025 A parent can t insist the authorities lock away theirteenor adult child in a facility that forces anti psychotic drug treatment and keeps out illegal drugs

Even if you can force involuntary treatment it s likely to be only for a few day a week or a month at most Im sure ourteendaughters dont know who Pam is or the significance of what shes doing but some of us in our 40s can appreciate her pivot. I just read an interview with George Clooney

He too is pivoting. He said no more kissing women in movies at 63 he realizes the romantic lead days are long gone Kids kids were happy doing well and it will cherry pick ormassagethe numbers to show this 2

Families have adapted well to the change the parents of past students will have moved on or gone quiet because their kids aren t in MCPS anymore 3 Dec 4 2025 Anonymous wrote The big advantage of a private is the college counseling advice

The big suburban publics give you no individualized support and indeed frequently give counterproductive class selection guidance! Poor littleteencomplaining about how hard foreign language is? Oh poor dear you should drop it next year and take something fun like ceramics! Also the competition is fierce Nov 16 2025 Anonymous wrote Tweens and up in sports all eat two dinners very common for there to be an after school dinner and a post practice dinner

These dinners are large meals. Have you never fed a growingteenboy who does intensive sports? They eat like Michael Phelps I have twoteengirls and they do still enjoy her but they are not rabid Swifties

They eventually got around to listening to the new album but were not downloading it at midnight or whatever. This thread seems to either think people are all swift all the time or haters [quote=Anonymous]OP here. Thanks for all of the helpful replies

My child will only be 11 when starting middle school so certainly not a teenager yet and with two full time working parents we feel more comfortable having them in some sort of supervised program until we can pick them up

We feel this is important both for safety as well as for keeping kids out of trouble during those Just like Marks character who seems super nice was an ex priest but has a savior complex in adopting teens later in life bringing a violentteeninto the home with his wife and bio daughter already there and being an alcoholic subjecting his younger daughter to his drunken antics and basically neglecting her and to top it all off he I ask because when I was an adult in my 20s and early 30s before I had kids I felt certain ways about how my mother
