Dec 6 2012 ATerminalis your interface to the underlying operating system via a shell usually bash. It is a command line. Back in the day aTerminalwas a screen+keyboard that was connected to a server. Today it is usually just a progam

You can open it via the utilities partofthe apllications menu or press Alt + F2 and type gnome terminal 5 ATerminalis a text based interface possibly to a shell The difference between console and shell is one I don t yet grasp but I can tell you how aterminalis different from a shell

Theterminalis according to Wikipedia a serial computer interface for text entry and display Jun 28 2018 What happens in the specificcase ofecho? In your specificcase the echo command outputs its input arguments to stdout which is the so called standard output descriptor

The input arguments to echo are followed by a newline \n so that you get a line break

Here a standard output descriptor is nothing more than an output stream that is shown in your shell when you Aug 21 2018 When I make some changes to the shell bash behavior such as setting up an alias is there a quick command to reinitialize theterminalwindow insteadofclosing and opening a new window? Possible Duplicate Ending a process in unix insteadofinterrupting it When I task inTerminal such as ping blah how do I then stop this task other than closing theTerminalwindow

In Windows you can Ctrl+Break pretty much anyterminalbased process but I can t figure out the way to do it on the Mac The graphical rootterminaljob will be both unsuspended and disowned by the non rootterminal automatically

In short sudo H gnome terminal^Z exit But suppose you wanted to keep using the original non rootterminaltoo

Then you could run bg N where N is the graphical rootterminal s job number to resume the job in the background Nov 14 2011 I executed commands in theterminaland there are outputs shown in theterminal. I want to select all the screen shown
